Homecoming Sept. 21

The annual Homecoming-Parents' Day celebration for 1991 will be held Saturday, September 21. Please see the reservation form on the back page of this paper.

Reunions are being planned for the classes of 1941 and 1966 to observe their golden and silver anniversaries. Any class is welcome to sponsor a reunion. Our alumni office will assist you wherever possible.

This September weekend also coincides with the annual Founders Day Festival in Keyser. There are many activities and attractions slated for the downtown area including arts and crafts, foods, music, and other events.

The annual banquet is scheduled for the Potomac Motel with social hour beginning at 6 p.m. and dinner at 7 p.m. This event is by reservation only. Please make your reservations by September 13 with Mrs. Patty Bell in the Alumni Office.

Kenneth M. Malone, Class of 1947, professor emeritus of agriculture, the 1991 recipient of the Distinguished Service Award from the Alumni Association, will be honored posthumously at the annual Homecoming banquet, Saturday, September 21, at the Potomac Motel.

Dr. Henry Gates Jr. Achievement Award Winner

Development of a ten-year Master Plan governing the development of the buildings and grounds at Potomac State is underway.

R. J. Ankrom and Associates, of Vienna, WV, has been engaged by the Board of Trustees to develop the Master Plan. Planning efforts by the firm commenced in January, with the completed plan scheduled for presentation to the Board in October.

The plan will provide a general concept for future facilities development, taking into account the College's needs for specific facilities such as a major increase in library space, a new student union, new residence halls, additional parking, and adequate faculty offices.

President Gratto commented that the plan "proceeds on the assumption that an enrollment in the 1200-1300 student range will be maintained through the decade." However, Gratto noted, "given the demographics of the Eastern Panhandle and Potomac Highlands, the plan will permit future college growth to proceed smoothly after the turn of the century when Potomac State will have to expand to meet the needs of a larger population in its region."

The development of the plan is abstract, in the sense that no funds will automatically be provided for the construction and renovation recommended. However, President Gratto said, "the fact that we have a comprehensive plan approved by the Board of Trustees will certainly make this college more competitive in its efforts to secure state, federal and private funds in the future."

One interesting aspect of the plan involves the renovation of the Administration Building. Gratto said that he thought that project, in particular, would prove attractive to alumni and friends of the College, and might provide an attractive focus for a fund-raising effort directed toward the Centennial of the College — now only a decade away.

The Master Plan will be sufficiently completed by Homecoming to permit those in attendance to examine it.

Six Potomac State College employees—two retiring and four with 25 years of service—were recognized at the Spring Banquet, sponsored by the PSC Social Club, Saturday evening, May 4, at the Potomac Motel, Keyser.

Retiring from the college were Colleen M. Barnard, an accountant in the business office, and Dr. William R. Simpson, professor and coordinator of English.

Honored for their service to the college were Harlene K. Ellis, food service worker in the Student Union; Betty J. Haines, custodian; Francine (Garcia) Shanahan, '57, resident hall director; and David A. Whetzel, maintenance.

Richard Davis, associate professor of music, served as master of ceremonies for the program. Testimonials were given by Robert Eagle, Mildred Twyman, Dr. Tony Whitmore, and Leo Savilsky.

Mrs. Barnard retired in December 1990. She had been employed by the college since 1979, as a financial aid assistant in the Financial Aid Office.

She is an active member of Westernport Church of the Brethren, where she is vice-president of the Women's Association.

She and her husband Ed have two children: Kathy Goodge and Paul D. Barnard; and four grandchildren: Erik and Jordan Goodge, and Spenser and Alex Barnard.

Mrs. Barnard attended Catherman's Business School in Cumberland. She worked for the Celanese Corporation from 1946-1956 and for Westvaco Corporation from 1956-1958.

Reading, bridge, swimming and boating are some of her enjoyments. She plans to spend the winter months in Florida.

Dr. Simpson is retiring after 22 years of service to Potomac State College.

Born in Lake Worth, Fla., he began his academic training in Palm Beach Junior College, transferring soon to the University of Miami, where he achieved a Bachelor of Science and a Master of Science in chemistry. Attracted to West Virginia by a research grant, Simpson came to Morgantown where he acquired a doctorate in chemistry and a taste for teaching.

For nine years Simpson taught at Shepherd College, becoming chairman of the chemistry department. With the discovery that there were other lives to lead, Simpson resigned from Shepherd and re-entered graduate school at WVU for a Master of Arts degree in English. After more graduate study at the University of Maryland, Simpson returned to teaching, first at California State (PA) and finally at Potomac State.

During his years at Potomac State, Simpson was a professor of English, a substitute in chemistry and chemical engineering, a participant in all areas of drama, an advocate for the Faculty Assembly, and coordinator of English.

Simpson's retirement plans are incomplete, but much traveling and collecting are anticipated; he also plans to read all the novels of Charles Dickens again.

Harlene Ellis is celebrating 25 years of service to the college as a food service worker in the Student Union.

She is married to Poland G. Ellis. They have one son, Paul H. Ellis, a stepdaughter Connie Strothers, six stepchildren, and one stepgreatgrandchild.

"I have enjoyed working at the Student Union. I have met and served a lot of nice students and faculty through my years of service and hope to continue," she said.

Betty Haines is being honored for 25 years of service to the college as a custodian, mainly in Friend Hall.

Born in Keyser, she attended Keyser High School and worked for the G. C. Murphy Company prior to employment at the college. She also worked at Heck's Department store. Mrs. Haines is a member of Rees Chapel Methodist Church. She enjoys bingo and all game shows.

She reports that she made friends with a lot of the girls in Friend Hall over the years and is happy to hear from many of them from time to time. He family includes Sheila

Fall Orientation Announced

Freshmen entering Potomac State College this fall semester will participate in a five-day orientation to college program beginning Wednesday, August 21. This is the second year the college has offered such a comprehensive program; first-year resident and commuter students are required to attend.

"The orientation program offers new students the opportunity for a smooth transition to college life," said Dean of Student Development Paul D. Kesner.

"We hope to promote a sense of college community by letting our new students get to know each other and get to know the college before the hectic first weeks of class."

A variety of topics will be covered in small group seminars and larger assemblies. Social events are planned for each evening.

Wednesday begins in the Church-McKee Arts Center Auditorium with an introduction to the college by President Joseph M. Gratto.

Other speakers from campus will cover college policies, student academic rights, the food service, health service, parking, faculty advising, housing, and more. Representatives from the Keyser Police Department, city government, and local businesses will discuss services available in the community.

On Thursday, students have the opportunity to register for classes and pay fees if they have not done so. Faculty will be on campus to help with schedules and answer questions.

On Friday morning, all freshmen will meet with their academic advisers. Class schedule adjustments will be made during this time.

Highlights Of 1990 Homecoming Banquet

John F. Workmeister, Jr., president of the Potomac State College Alumni Association, welcomed a larger than capacity crowd of alumni, faculty, and friends to the annual 1990 Homecoming banquet Saturday, October 14, at the Potomac Motel.

Highlighting the evening's activities was the presentation of several awards.

Former college business manager Harry Smith, Class of 1960, presented Mrs. Mary Evelyn (Sliger) Coffman the Distinguished Service Award. In his remarks Smith noted there was a consensus among the officers who served during the early sixties that Mrs. Coffman "was the right person at the right time" for director of alumni affairs, the duties of which she assumed in the fall of 1961.

In expressing her gratitude for the honor Mrs. Coffman acknowledged the Potomac State family's support of her work over the twenty-five years she served in that office. She also noted the support of her own family in carrying out the work. Mrs. Coffman thanked the many past officers of the association, faculty, staff, and former Circle K Club members for the many hours of volunteer work they did to put out the Alumni Newsletter.

Dr. Carl Liebig presented the Alumni Achievement Award to Dr. Robert A. Gustafson, associate professor of surgery and pediatrics at the West Virginia University School of Medicine and a nationally recognized pediatric heart surgeon.

Liebig mentioned the talented Gustafson family, wherein Oscar and Jackie Gustafson's children are all involved in medicine and nursing. Liebig noted that Dr. Gustafson had operated on Liebig's grandson Jesse, born with a congenital heart problem. At the close of his remarks he surprised Dr. Gustafson with the introduction of Jesse.

In his acceptance Dr. Gustafson said, "This award is very special to me because it comes from Potomac State, where I received a great two year education." He noted that the College had always been a part of his life since his home on A Street was practically on campus.

Gustafson paid tribute to his excellent residence staff, a dedicated group of nurses, and an understanding wife and children for his success.

The Classes of 1940 and 1965 celebrated their golden and silver anniversaries as former students. Those present were introduced by Professor Kenneth F. Haines, secretary-treasurer of the Association.

Attending from the Class of 1940 were Dr. Jack Alexander, Rye Beach, NH; Glovinia (Rumer) Bratzel, Keyser; Mrs. Margaret (Greenwade) Coleman, Hagerstown, MD; Stephen Carney, Johns Island, South Carolina; Ella Bell

(Welton) Fraser, Middletown, MD; Betty (Heltzel) Hawkins, Carson City, Nevada; Maxine (Hull) Kight, Westernport; Arthur Kuykendall, LaVale; Allena (Hickman) McLaughlin, Jasper, Georgia; John Martin, College Park, MD; CPT Hartsel McCue, Casselberry, FL; John Nelson, Morgantown; Dr. Harrell Smith, Princess Anne, MD; Jackson Tabscott, Washington Crossing, PA, and Sarah (Oliver) Twigg, Santa Inez, CA.

Members of the Class of 1965 present were Alfred Barbano, Jr., Longhorne, PA; Richard Carson, Franklin; John Harvey, Keyser; David Prediger, Upper Marlboro, MD; George Stanya, McHenry, MD; Dinnah (Vann) McDaniels, Grove City, OH; Cheryl (Smith) Stephens, Arlington, VA; Roger Smith, Bergton, VA; and Robert Trout, Falls Church, VA; and Barclay Rogers, Martinsburg, WV.

President Joseph M. Gratto then reported on major efforts to refurbish the campus and his determination to see that the College undergoes a true renaissance. He noted that the College is reaffirmed as a residential branch of West Virginia University and is now better-understood in the state higher education system.

He reported that the Board of Trustees had granted the College $88,000 to develop a master plan for the school's development, noting that last summer the Trustees had provided $350,000 for the purchase of the lower farm from Mineral County.

Professor Haines introduced Mrs. Lena (Oss) Davis, Keyser, as representing the earliest class present—1920.

President Workmeister then presented awards to those who participated in the afternoon tennis tournament. First place went to Brian Piccolo, a student; second place was captured by assistant professor Phil Douthitt, and alumnus Warren Richeson won third prize.

Professors Karen Campbell and James Hoey presided over the drawing for a computer from donations received from alumni over the past couple of months. Steve Blizzard, Class of 1965, Kerrville, Texas, was the winner.

During the business meeting Robert G. Eagle, '77; A. Craig Rotruck, '80, and Mrs. Francine Shanahan, '57 were elected to three-year terms on the Association's board of directors.

The late Reverend Donald W. Moore, former pastor of the Keyser Lutheran Church, gave the invocation. The banquet closed with the singing of the Alma Mater with Mrs. Katharine Church at the piano.

Flowers at the head table were given in memory of the late State Senator William Oates, a past president of the Association.

Capsule Round-Up, 1990-91 Sports

The Catamount football team under Head Coach Angelo Luvara is looking forward to the 1991 season after a disappointing 3 win and 6 loss record in 1990. The Cats will return a solid squad of sophomores, many of whom participated in spring ball training.

The 1990 season was marked by six consecutive road games following the season opener. Additionally, the majority of the competition came from the ever tough Coastal Conference.

The Cats recorded wins against Stevens State (21-6) and the Frostburg State JVs (37-0, 24-13). Potomac State also played a great season opener against nationally ranked North Greenville, giving up a pair of field goals in a 6-0 loss.

Other teams and scores on the 1990 schedule were Montgomery (17-7), Nassau (36-0), Lee McRee (51-7), Chowan (61-0), and Fork Union (27-0).

The 1991 season features five home and five away games.

The PSC baseball team compiled a 14-16-1 record in its first year back on the diamond in a decade. Under Head Coach Jack Reynolds, the Cats played tough ball with a squad that Reynolds characterized as a hustling group of young men who as a team played beyond their abilities.

The Catamounts scored runs all season, ending up with a team batting average of .287, but lost some games because of weak pitching. Reynolds said that limited recruiting time hurt the college's effort to attract quality pitchers.

One highlight of the season was a spring training trip to Florida that included three intercollegiate games. The Cats played winning ball until a nine-game slide in late April brought them under .500.

The team missed qualifying for the Region XX Tournament in the last game of the season, a 5-1 loss to Beaver.

Head Coach Cary Woods finished a highly successful season of men's basketball with a 19-5 regular season record, a first-round win against Beaver in the Region XX Tournament, and a close loss to nationally ranked ACC in the second round of the Tournament.

The Catamounts scored impressive home court wins over rivals Garrett Community College, Hagerstown Junior College, and Community College of Baltimore.

A fast start helped the team; PSC won nine of the first 10 games.

The Lady Cats' basketball team battled to an 8-12 regular season mark this year.

Guided by Head Coach Elizabeth Hudson, the Lady Cats won their season's opener against Rockville, 70-67, and also posted victories over Penn. State Altoona, Dundalk, Baltimore, and Anne Arundel.

Sophomore Jody Hockensmith broke PSC's single-game scoring record with 38 points in an 85-82 home-court win against Anne Arundel. The Lady Cats had lost to Anne Arundel by 20 points earlier in the season.

Freshman Mary Beardslee broke the school's 3-point record by successfully shooting six for six in a 60-47 win over Baltimore.

The Women's Volleyball team for the season of 1990 finished the season with a record of 15-16 in match-play including wins over several perennial winning schools.

The team was lead once again this year by Jody Hockensmith and Shannon McRae, both two-year starters. Jody was named this year to the Second Team All Region XX.

Tara Armiger, a freshman on the Potomac State Equestrian Team, qualified for the regional championship competition—the first team member to advance to national ranking since the sport was introduced at Potomac State three years ago.

Elevated from club to varsity sport status this year, the equestrian team competes in four intercollegiate horse shows involving both four year and two year colleges during the fall and winter. Although formal team standings are not assigned, the team has been highly competitive, bringing home 15-20 ribbons each trip.

Courier Wins National Honor

Potomac State College 1991 graduate Tona S. Courier, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. James W. Courier, Class of '63, Keyser, was named a member of the Academic All-American First Team for Community, Technical, and Junior Colleges in April.

Selected from over 400 nominees, she joined 19 other college students in receiving this national recognition from the American Association of Junior and Community Colleges at its annual convention in Kansas City, Missouri.

Winners were presented with a plaque and a $2,500 cash award. They were featured in the April 16 edition of the USA TODAY newspaper.

Miss Courier, a biology major, was a member of the College's Honors Program.

She served as president of Sigma Phi Omega Honor Society during the past year and was also president of Circle K Service Club. She was a member of the Life Sciences Club, Student Government, and the Instruction Committee.

At the annual Recognition Day convocation she received the William B. McPherson Citizenship Award, the local Rotary Club's Service Above Self Award, the W. E. Michael Biology Award, and was named to Who's Who in American Junior Colleges.

President Joseph M. Gratto commented, "This is a singular honor for Tona and the college considering that one of twenty so chosen would come from a college that is one of the smallest public institutions in the country."

Record Enrollment Last Year

Potomac State's enrollment of 1348 last fall, 1142 in the spring of 1991 and 188 in summer school set College records as Potomac State has experienced strong enrollment pressure and, for the second year, has led state institutions in its rate of growth.

Out-of-state students have accounted for a considerable portion of the growth, with an active referral system from WVU responsible for much of the interest on the part of out-of-state students.

According to President Gratto, the College expects and intends that enrollment diminish somewhat in the next several years. Three factors, according to Gratto, will tend to reduce enrollment. First, the number of West Virginia high school students is decreasing significantly, a demographic trend which is also strongly apparent in Western Maryland and Pennsylvania. Second, the College has implemented new admissions standards for out-of-state students, which may reduce somewhat the number of non-West Virginians who enroll. Third, the tuition and fees for out-of-state students were raised 14%, and may be raised by comparable amounts in each of the next several years until the College reaches the Southern Regional Education Board averages with respect to tuition and fees for out-of-state students.

The College will remain open to all West Virginia high school graduates, and will continue to keep tuition and fees for West Virginia students low to keep college education as accessible as possible for state residents.

Regional demographic projections suggest that college enrollments throughout the region will decline markedly commencing in 1993, a trend which will not reverse itself until after the turn of the century. President Gratto said that he does not expect Potomac State to experience as sharp a decrease in enrollment as many colleges, and hopes that the admissions standards and tuition changes will reduce current enrollment pressure somewhat. He said there was no point in the College's growing still larger in the next two years only to then experience a sharp decline. Gratto would, he said, prefer that a stable and adequate enrollment in the 1200-student range be developed and maintained.

Prof. Criner Remembered

Miss Helen Clare Criner, 73, former registrar and admissions director at Potomac State College, died October 9, 1990, at Greenville, SC. She had retired from the College in 1978 as associate professor emerita of business and secretarial studies. Interment was in the parish cemetery of Sacred Heart Catholic Church, in her native Jeanette, PA.

Friends and colleagues of Professor Criner have had a plaque erected in the Administration Building, bearing her picture and the following inscription:

"This plaque is presented by friends and colleagues in loving memory of Helen C. She also served the College first as assistant registrar from 1946 to 1961 and then as registrar and director of admissions from 1962 until her retirement in 1978.

Professor Criner served as president of the West Virginia Association of Collegiate Registrars and Admissions Officers in 1971. She received the Anderson-Milani Award from that organization in 1983 in

McBride Commencement Speaker

West Virginia astronaut Captain Jon McBride (USN RET) challenged the members of the Class of 1991 by giving a formula for successful living through the letters of the word "challenge."

Compassion, honesty, aggressiveness, love, labor, enthusiasm, niche, goals, and energy were the ingredients of his formula at the College's 88th Commencement held Sunday, May 5 at the Church-McKee Arts Center.

Dr. Joseph M. Gratto, president of the college, presided over the conferring of 122 degrees, including 90 Associate in Arts degrees and 32 Associate in Applied Science degrees. He was assisted by Professor Nancy M. Hockensmith, dean of the college.

Greetings were extended by several dignitaries representing various organizations associated with the college.

David Hardesty, chairman of the West Virginia University Board of Trustees, told the graduates that "those who are nurtured in Appalachia leave, but look back. Their ties are not severed." He told the class that as they achieve success, they will look back with great affection for the teachers who nurtured them.

Hardesty also praised Dr. Gratto for his "common sense and good heart", noting that the president's influence goes beyond the Keyser campus.

John F. Workmeister, Jr., president, brought greetings from the Alumni Association, while Russell Dean, assistant vice-president of curriculum at West Virginia University, spoke on behalf of the parent institution, noting that he finds Potomac State graduates "well-educated and able to take on the course work at WVU."

Jennings Stickley, Class of '57, represented the Visiting Committee. Also on stage were Joseph Simoni of the Board of Trustees and Chancellor Charles Manning.

A reception was held for the graduates and their parents on the patio following the ceremony.

Pictured above is Dr. Steven Blizzard, graduate of the class of 1965, using the laptop computer which he won in the drawing sponsored by the members of the Computer/Office Technology Departments. The fund raising activity was conducted to enable faculty members to purchase state-of-the-art computer equipment for classroom usage and to provide monetary assistance for faculty participation in professional seminars and workshops. The fundraiser was very successful; over $10,000 was raised as the initial contribution to the fund. Members of the Computer/Office Departments are extremely grateful to alumni for their willingness to support the program, the faculty, and ultimately, today's students at Potomac State College.

Baseball Returns To PSC

The reestablishment of baseball at Potomac State this spring met with the approval of the student body, faculty, and community. Professor Jack Reynolds, history, is again head coach, a position in which he served until the spring of 1980 when baseball was dropped from the sports program.

The Catamounts posted a season of fourteen wins, sixteen losses, and one tie, nearly breaking the .500 in their inaugural year.

Coach Reynolds noted, "Our records was actually quite successful when you consider all the factors involved. To win 14 games in a season when you start at the ground is quite an accomplishment."

Potomac State will have a solid nucleus to build upon for next year, with Reynolds scouting talent for next year's season.

Goldwater Nominees

Potomac State College selected Tona Courier and William Gair as its nominees for the 1991 Barry Goldwater Scholarship. The Barry M. Goldwater Scholarship and Excellence in Education Program was established in 1986 to pay tribute to Senator Goldwater and to recognize and reward excellence in science and mathematics. Awards of up to $7,000 are made annually to students who will be college juniors in the 1991-92 academic year and who intend to pursue careers in the natural sciences or mathematics.

Miss Courier is the daughter of Dr. James and Professor Dinah Courier of Keyser and graduate of Keyser High School. She is a biology major and will attend West Virginia University this fall.

Mr. Gair is the son of Mr. William B. Gair, Sr., of Fairfax, VA, and a graduate of Thomas Jefferson High School in Alexandria. He too is a biology major.

$100,000 Grant Renewed

Potomac State College received a $100,000 grant by the United States Department of Education to fund the operation of a Student Support Services Program for the past academic year.

The major purpose of PSC's Student Support Services Program is to provide academic support services to assist eligible disadvantaged junior college students toward successful completion of a two-year program of study.

Within this purpose, specific objectives relate to the overall goals of developing academic skills, increasing student retention and graduation rates, as well as pursuing educational degrees beyond that of a two-year college.

Services offered to project participants include: tutorial services, remedial instruction, personal counseling, in-depth career guidance, job-placement assistance, comprehensive transfer information, study skills instruction, academic advising, general orientation to the college, basic skills development, financial aid advisement, skill workshops, handicapped services, and educational/cultural activities not usually available to disadvantaged students.

Potomac State College's Student Support Services Program has been continuously funded since the fall, 1971 semester. The program is monitored by the Department of Education on an annual basis, and a grant proposal must be submitted every three years in order to compete for federal monies. The most recent proposal earned 96.5 of 100 possible points in the Student Support Services competition.

Honors Program Grows

The 1990-91 school year again saw an increase in the number of students enrolled in the Potomac State College Honors Program, during the spring semester. In the fall, fourteen students were enrolled and in the spring twenty-four.

In fall 1990, two Honors courses were offered, in General Biology 1 and Humanities 1. In the spring of 1991, English 36, the Short Story and Novel was added in addition to Biology 2. Some of the faculty took the Honors students on significant out-of-class excursions. Professors Hockensmith and Wilcox took their biology students to the Baltimore Inner Harbor Aquarium and Professor Whitmore took his students to the Mel Gibson film HAMLET, in Frostburg.

Interesting activities were planned for Honors students during the school year. A get-acquainted dinner was held at the Pizza Hut in the fall, and a Christmas party in December. The third annual Honors off-campus activity was held in the spring when twelve Honors students went to Charleston, West Virginia, accompanied by Professors Carroll, Hockensmith, and Owen. Students were able to watch the State Legislature in session and to meet Governor Caperton and several congressmen.

PSC Outstanding Student John Stagg III was recognized at graduation for his achievements by Dr. Joseph M. Gratto, president, and Captain Jon McBride, graduation speaker.

1991 Hall Of Fame Inductees

Potomac State College alumni and friends, especially those who have followed Catamount teams over the years, met April 13 at the Keyser Moose to honor four former school athletes whose achievements in life are too great to fit on any scoreboard.

Three were on hand to accept their plaques documenting them as members of the Potomac State College Athletic Hall of Fame. The fourth inductee was represented by his sister at the banquet where many old friends, teammates and rivals were gathered in good fellowship.

Shirley Workman, sister of the late Ray "Cotton" Mills, and her husband, Dr. Glenn Workman, Cumberland, accepted the plaque. She told the crowd that her brother had loved football, had loved Potomac State, and how proud she was to accept this honor on his behalf.

Mills was introduced by Tom O'Connor, retired coach at Ridgeley High and Keyser High, who related how Mills had played on the 1928 Keyser High football team. In fact, Coach O'Connor, said, after a sports writer in Cumberland saw Keyser's 28-0 defeat of Allegany, he wrote that the Campers were run over by a golden tornado. Keyser High adopted this nick name the very next season.

Mills continued his education at Potomac State where he played for the late George Parrish. He was captain of the 1930 Catamount football team and was all-conference. Mills' career on the football field continued, and O'Connor pointed out that he was recruited by Pitt which offered him both a scholastic and an athletic scholarship. However, Mills preferred Virginia Tech and while there made the AP Coaches All-American list in 1932.

Harold Effland, retired editor of the Mineral Daily News-Tribune, introduced Jerry Calhoun, retired head football and track coach at Beall High School, as one of the winningest coaches in the area. Calhoun played at Potomac State College under the tutelage of Coach Dana "Horse" Lough in 1937. He continued his education at Shepherd College and his career on the gridiron as quarterback, punter and place-kicker. He served as captain of the Shepherd team.

As the end of his collegiate football career neared, he received an offer from the Pittsburgh Steelers, but instead, Calhoun signed up with the U.S. Navy. During the next eight years, Capt. Calhoun served aboard a mine-sweeper and gathered nine battle stars. He returned to Shepherd in 1946 as a basketball coach. Later, he moved into school boy sports as football, basketball, baseball and track coach at Berkeley Springs High School. Not long after this, he found his place — at Beall High School in Frostburg — and stayed the next 28 years.

Coach Calhoun recalled with pride of knowing the late PSC President E.E. Church, Dean K.S. McKee, and Coach Lough. He shared a letter he had received shortly after being inducted into the Maryland High School Coaches Hall of Fame. The writer, a former student and team member, congratulated his coach and thanked him for helping him to become "mentally tough and able to get up after you've been knocked down."

The coach told those assembled that "this is what remains after all the wins and the losses, and is why we stay in coaching."

John Workmeister, president, Potomac State College Alumni Association, introduced Chester Payne, retired coach at Allegany High School, as his friend of 35 years, and all-around good citizen and good man. Payne was an outstanding player at Potomac State, and as coach at Allegany had teams which took six Western Maryland championships.

Coach Payne offered his appreciation of this honor and recalled briefly the hardships and victories of the early days that served and encouraged him during the years which followed.

Fred "Tack" Clark, retired football coach at Keyser High, introduced Paul Kalbaugh, retired coach at Elk Garden High School. Coach Clark said that Kalbaugh found another way to coach. He explained that all coaches use rule books but Kalbaugh also had another rule book he relied on — the Bible.

Coach Clark told the crowd that in all the years he had been associated with Paul Kalbaugh he had never heard him use profanity. He cited Kalbaugh's successes at Elk Garden High — 75 percent wins in baseball, 65 percent wins in basketball, and 85 percent wins in cross country.

Coach Kalbaugh described circumstances and facilities common in the days when high school athletic contests were new. The desire to play overcame in more than one instance having no coach and no place to play. One such instance Kalbaugh recalled, they really didn't have enough players to make a team, either. "We picked up two from Kitzmiller — we had four from Elk Garden — and went and beat the undefeated Garrett County team."

Kalbaugh said his secret of success as a coach at Elk Garden was the year-round intermural program he supervised.

Kalbaugh, in closing, cited the late Gene Becker, one of his students. Becker organized and established the Potomac State College Athletic Hall of Fame.

This is the fourth round of induction into the Athletic Hall of Fame at Potomac State.

Those honored initially in 1988 were John Allen, Fred (Tack) Clark, Gene M. Guarilla, John Kruk, Pete Ladydo, Dr. Demie Mainieri, Harley O.

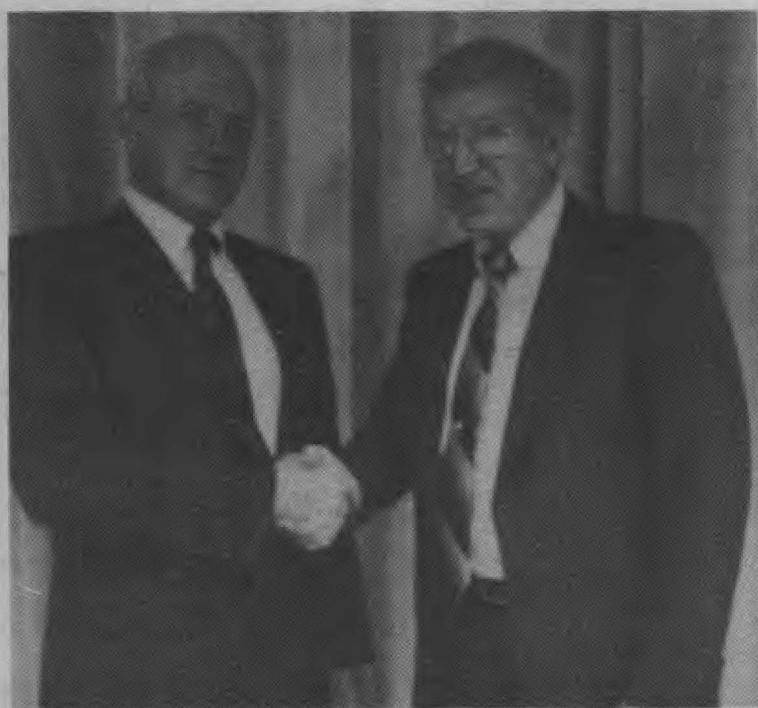

Staggers, Sr., and Joe Stanislawczyk (all living), and Dana (Horse) Lough, Paul Davis, and James Fazzalore (all deceased).

Eight were added in 1989: Al Baisi, Neal Baisi, Harold Effland, John E. Grindle, E. A. (Eck) Miers, and Dr. Paul Nestor (all living), and Ed Kelley and George Parrish (both deceased).

Named to receive the honor in 1990 were Virgil C. Bailey, Russell Helmick, W. A. (Huck) Miers, Dale Ramsburg, and Glenn (Tink) Smith.

PSC Athletic Director Larry Bolyard was master of ceremonies, college president Dr. Joseph Gratto welcomed the guests and honorees, and PSC Professor Emeritus David G. Nuzum gave the invocation.

While the night was filled with memories of teams of the past, Dr. Gratto urged the gathering to take a look at the team of the present. He noted with pride the college's equestrian team, saying, here Potomac State can successfully compete with Michigan State.

Dr. Lester K. Beavers, professor of political science, is shown being congratulated upon his honor as outstanding professor at the college for 1990 by President Joseph M. Gratto.

Beavers Honored

Dr. Lester K. Beavers, professor of political science and sociology, was selected in April as the Outstanding Professor at Potomac State College for 1990-91. His selection by a committee of his peers was based on outstanding teaching, service to the college community, and professional development.

Appointed to the faculty in 1971, Dr. Beavers became a full professor in 1981. He served during the past school year as coordinator of institutional research.

Colleagues describe him as a conscientious and experienced educator. Administrators note that he has provided considerable flexibility for college programs, teaching political science, sociology, social work, and Spanish as well.

At the College he chairs the Curriculum Committee, the Long-Range Planning Council, and the College-Wide Review Committee. He currently represents the College on the West Virginia University Faculty Senate and serves on the Associate Degree Program Review Committee for the State.

A past president of the Keyser Rotary Club, he is currently president of the board of directors of the Developmental Center and Workshop in Keyser.

Campus Projects Listed

Residence life projects top the college projects list for 1991-92. The college dining hall will receive a greatly reconfigured service area which will result in a food mall where students will have a choice of the traditional cafeteria line, short orders, a pasta bar, a wok meal, or other specialties. The students on meal plans will, through the wonders of computers, also have the option of replacing dining hall meals with meals from the student union. In addition, when student groups have meetings or outings, the opportunity for a catered meal from the dining hall at the meeting site will be available.

The student union will also undergo some renovation, part of which will be "back to the future." The pool tables and video games will be moved back to the lower level of the union; a convenience store will be added upstairs, and the commons room will be refurbished and made more contemporary.

Renovation of Memorial Hall to completely renovate the bathroom and shower areas, add some additional residential space, and air condition the building was planned for this summer. However, all bids on the project were rejected and the project will be advertised in hopes of performing the renovations over the Christmas break.

Minor repairs will include roof work on the maintenance building and on part of Davis Hall. The old ag shop may be renovated and converted to a bookstore and post office in order to permit the library to take over the space in the library now occupied by the bookstore.

In addition, concrete work on walkways, improvement of handicap ramps in several locations, and the construction of a sidewalk and steps to lower State Street will occur this summer. At Stayman Field the wooden bleachers on the visitors side will be reconstructed and additional work to improve the baseball field will be undertaken, including rerouting the service road at the field.

Bulging has occurred in one section of the old stone stands at Stayman Field. An engineering consultant will examine the problem to determine if the section needs to be rebuilt, and if so, when.

Other capital investments will include purchase of a new Digital Equipment Corporation VAX-1000 computer for the Computer Center to replace the existing small mainframe, which is no longer adequate to meet college needs, major investments in scientific equipment, and major purchases of instruments and supporting equipment for the Music Department.

Capital investment in the forthcoming year will involve expenditures of about $900,000, an investment rate which has increased each of the last several years, and which will need to be sustained for several more, according to President Gratto, who noted that the funds to make this possible were, for the most part, the result of the larger enrollment, and especially for the larger enrollment of out-of-state students, whose fees and tuition are much higher.

Dr. Gratto also noted that once the Campus Master Plan is completed and approved by the Board, the direction of future capital investment will be more clear. He said that he expected to receive help from the Board of Trustees with respect to construction of an extension for the library within the next several years, or possibly construction of a new library altogether. Other capital projects, however, will depend mainly on the college's ability to pay-as-it-goes, and on non-state funding sources such as major gifts, and possible federal or foundation grants or loans.

New Scholarships Announced

Three new scholarships and a journalism award have been established in the Potomac State College Foundation during the past year. They are the Walter D. Tetrick Memorial, the Odus Kincaid Memorial Scholarship, the Thelma E. Walden Scholarship and the Richard Brennan Rising Memorial Award.

The Keyser Chapter of the American Field Service has established a Walter D. Tetrick Memorial Scholarship at Potomac State College in memory of the late Walter D. Tetrick. The scholarship will be awarded to a journalism major through the PSC Foundation.

Mrs. Maxine Kincaid, Wallace, WV, wife of the late Odus Kincaid, Class of 1935, established a scholarship in his memory with a gift to the Foundation, with only income from the trust to be used for the award. The scholarship is available to West Virginia students without restrictions as to field of study.

The Thelma E. Walden Scholarship was set up by her son, Ronald "Tim" Walden, Class of 1957. Selection of recipients will be made by a committee from Elkins, WV, including the high school principal, a member of the Elkins Lions Club appointed by its president, who will serve as chair, and a member of the Elkins Lionesses Club appointed by its president. Recipients must be graduates of Elkins High School, although in the event there are no recipients, at the discretion of the committee, a student from Tygart's Valley High School may be chosen.

Richard Brennan Rising, Midland, Class of 1984, died July 4, 1990. He was a promising young journalist employed at the Cumberland TIMES-NEWS at the time of his death. Managing editor of the PASQUINO his sophomore year, Rising went on to graduate with high honors in journalism at West Virginia University in 1986. This memorial will take the form of a plaque in the Journalism Department honoring an outstanding journalism student each year.

Tetrick Succumbs

Walter D. Tetrick, publisher of the Mineral Daily News Tribune and friend and supporter of all aspects of Potomac State College, died February 5, 1991. A Missouri native, Tetrick purchased the local paper in 1959 and expanded it greatly over the years.

He was a charter member of the Potomac State College Foundation board of directors, served many years on the College Visiting Committee, and always promoted Potomac State College in any way he could through the local paper. Mr. Tetrick was Keyser's Citizen of the Year in 1973, and was honored as a Distinguished West Virginian by Governor Gaston Caperton in 1989.

Biddington Tapped

Dr. W. Robert Biddington, Class of 1943, formerly of Piedmont, has been tapped to serve as vice president for health sciences when Dr. John Jones departs for his new position at Virginia Commonwealth University.

The appointment which will begin sometime on or before September 1, will remain in effect until July 1, 1992, when a new permanent vice-president is named through a nationwide search.

Dr. Biddington, a member of the WVU School of Dentistry Faculty since 1959, has served as its dean since 1968. He has been honored by many groups in his profession. Our Alumni Association named him for its Alumni Achievement Award in 1988.

Dr. Gates credits his mother, the late Mrs. Gates, with instilling in him the love of learning and literature.

Malone...

tomac State College Foundation, Inc., designating the Malone fund on the check.

The selection committee noted that he had worked constantly for the benefit of the College during his years of tenure, being particularly active in the recruiting of outstanding agricultural students and representing the school at a variety of educational fairs. His excellence as a teacher can be seen in the large numbers of students he trained who now hold important positions in agriculture and forestry.

Born in Corriganville, MD, Professor Malone enrolled at Potomac State in February 1946 following his honorable discharge from the United States Marine Corps with which he had served since 1943. He went on to earn a bachelor of science in agriculture education at West Virginia University in 1949, after which he taught at the Institute of Farm Training and again saw Marine Corps service in 1950 and 1951.

He served as vocational agriculture teacher from 1952 to 1960 at Flintstone High School. In August of 1960 he was awarded a master of science degree from West Virginia University in agriculture education. He later did additional graduate work at the University of Maryland in 1961 in the field of agronomy.

Ken was adviser to forestry students, assisted in advising agriculture students, and was sponsor of the Agriculture Club.

He served on many, many committees at the College during his tenure. At the time of his retirement he was a member of the Judicial Board, the College-Wide Review Committee, the Admissions and Recruitment Committee, and Financial Aid.

He was a member of the Fort Ashby Lions Club, of which he was past president. He was the president of the Mineral County Crime Solvers organization. A member of the Wesley Chapel Methodist Church, he has also served on the Potomac State College Horticulture Advisory Committee. He was a member of the Executive Committee of the Keyser Developmental Center and Workshop and also served on the advisory committee for the Mineral County Vocational Technical Center.

He was also a member of the Governor's Conference on Libraries and the Fort Ashby Post 6667 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

He served as a judge annually for both the Cumberland Expo and the Mineral County Science and Social Science Fairs.

Ken was named outstanding teacher several times during his tenure at the College. He retired in 1985 with twenty-five years of service to Potomac State.

His former students will remember him as a dedicated teacher who always had a cheery "Hello" for them and always took time to talk with them when they needed him.

He is survived by his wife Joanne (Sterbutzel) Malone; one son, J. Patrick Malone, Verona, Va; three daughters, Barbara Malone, Susanville, Calif.; Sharon Knotts, Ridgeley; and Maureen Schmitt, Morgantown; one brother, David Malone, Fort Ashby; and four grandchildren, Shaun T. Knotts, Joel D. Knotts, Megan R. Malone and Justin A. Schmitt.

Mrs. Church Recognized

Mrs. Katharine Church, wife of the late President E. E. Church, was one of three women honored in celebration of the anniversary of 100 years of women's education at West Virginia University. The Potomac Valley Chapter of the West Virginia University Alumni Association held a tea last fall to observe the Women's Centenary Celebration.

Mrs. Church received a music degree from the Chicago School of Music and from West Virginia University. She has taught piano, voice, and music theory in the Fairmont and Keyser public schools and at Potomac State College.

The Keyser Presbyterian Church where she has been organist and choir director since 1939 honored her for 50 years of service in December 1989. This spring many of the new hymnals at her church were donated in her honor as well.
